

Studio Killian-Dawson US

164 Market Street, Ste 345, Charleston, SC 29401, United States

☎ (+1) 843 408 1571

ABOUT US

Studio Killian-Dawson is a classically-focused, full-service interior design studio based in the ancient English capital of Winchester and Charleston, South Carolina. Operating internationally, the team create historically rich and layered homes using traditional techniques, often against the backdrop of listed building requirements. They also take on small commercial spaces including private members' clubs, restaurants and boutique hotels.

Led by Renée Killian-Dawson, the studio is currently working on a townhouse in the historic district of Charleston, a private members' club in South Carolina and a boutique hotel on the Greek island of Corfu. The studio has recently launched a new furniture and fabrics line, where the team are looking forward to reinventing some of their much-loved pieces alongside new designs.

What services do you provide?

Antiques, Interior Architecture and Design

How would you describe your style?

"Eclectic, architecturally focused and richly layered."

Please describe a recently completed project or tell us about the bespoke service that you offer

"The I'On Club is a fun, vibrant, family-oriented swimming and tennis club located at I'On in Mount Pleasant, a renowned New Urban community famous for its narrow pedestrian-friendly streets, independent shops, offices and restaurants, churches, community dock and lake, wildlife preserve and thoughtfully planned, well-built traditional architecture.

Within this context, Studio Killian-Dawson has, for nearly two years, been working closely with the owners and overall design team on developing a Masterplan, including new branding, for updating the existing facilities and fabric of the club and planning exciting new ways to utilize the fantastic grounds. This includes planning new walkways and rookery, plantings, walls and groundworks; new eating and relaxing areas for members and outside guests of all ages, cabanas and several new ancillary buildings. This project is energetically and thoughtfully led by its visionary owners, Vince Graham, founder of I'On, and Chad Besenfelder, longtime Project Manager at I'On, owner of the highly-rated wine bar The Shelmore and founder of a jazz club in downtown Charleston.

you with a genuine smile. Where you can swim under clear blue skies, hear tennis balls thwack in the distance, shower with thick fluffy towels, have a massage to ease the day's tension, and then put your feet up in the chicest cabana, chatting with friends while the sun sets and you find the day has melted into that most magical, ephemeral thing, contentment.

Plans to completely refresh the members-only outdoor bar, now called The Lido, have been completed and we are in the process of completely renovating the interiors of the original clubhouse."

